RESISTANCE TO STATE VIOLENCE, PAST & PRESENT: A Screening and Discussion

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19 | 4 - 6 PM | WEXNER CENTER THEATER

DO NOT RESIST

Examining the militarization of police forces across the United States, Do Not Resist gives viewers a glimpse from the inside. Starting on the streets of Ferguson, Missouri, first-time filmmaker (but veteran cinematographer) Craig Atkinson rides along with SWAT teams, films a police training seminar, and heads to a congressional hearing on the proliferation of military equipment in small-town police departments. Winner of the Best Documentary Feature prize at the 2016 Tribeca Film Festival, Do Not Resist is a chilling state-of-the-nation address. (72 mins., DCP)

PANELISTS:

MAT COLEMAN, Associate Professor of Geography: “Power in Blue”

KATHERINE MARINO, Assistant Professor of WGSS & History: “Histories of Anti-fascist Feminist Resistance”

SHANNON WINNUBST, Professor & Chair, WGSS: “Resistance Ethics”
